SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN.

The history of the most successful business men of this country, at the present day, if written out, would be the strongest argument ever adduced in favor of ADVERTISING. Anv person of common information can cite a score of cases in point, beginning with Dr. Brandreth, who commenced with nothing, and now rolls in wealth, and ending with-Heaven only knows whom! Hundreds of princely fortunes have been built up by means of that powerful lever, the Press, while thousands have amassed for themselves a handsome competency by a more moderate employment of the same means. Any person in Washington, doing now a moderate business, can, by a steady course of advertising and fair dealing, increase it to any extent which he may desire. This assertion may not be fully believed at present, but the time is coming when it will.

Advertising is a thing yet in its infancy. Even in the most thrifty commercial communities of the North, where it is relied on chiefly as the great means of success, it is not fully understood. Here it is scarcely thought of, except by the shrewd, successful few.

When a man opens a store for the sale of merchandise, such as the every-day necessaries of life, what is his first object? To get buyers, of course. For what else should he put out his sign, with his name and the nature of his business upon it, but to let people know that he is there and wants to sell? This is the first step in advertising. But it is only addressed to those who may chance to pass his store. Perhaps a few hundred persons read it in a day. But he puts his advertisement in a newspaper, with the particulars of what he keeps, and the terms upon which he sells, and it is read by thousands. The cost of a sign may be twenty dollars-to be read by a few hundreds of persons daily; an advertisement for a year would cost little more, while it would be read by numbers innumerable.

In European countries, where newspapers are expensive luxuries, and read only by the favored few, a general system of advertising would not be wise. But in a country like ours, where the daily paper is the nutriment of the public mind, advertising is the only true system for the business men to practise; and he who disregards it will inevitably have the mortification of seeing his business decay, and himself sink into insignificance, while his more intelligent neighbors go prosperously on and amass fortunes.

But no man must expect to become rich a once by advertising. As well might he attempt to lay the underpinning and the rafters of his store at the same time. It is a system, having a commencement and a progress like any thing else in life, and will, if judiciously practised, lead on to fortune as surely as the river finds its entrance to the ocean.

We throw out these remarks for business men to ponder on; but while we offer them the channel through which they may make known their ability to supply the public want, we would be rightly understood in the matter. We beg no man's patronage. While we shall be glad to receive it, and shall appreciate its benefits to ourselves, we expect to render a full equivalent and an ample remuneration for the outlay. It is in every aspect a thing reciprocal: to the seller, in that it increases his sales: to the buyer, because he thus knows where to purchase to the best advantage; and lastly, to ourselves, in that we are the channel of communication between the two.

THE CAPITOL.

before last; and, if so, why has it not been announced, and the work commenced?"

improvement will be matured and announced more, in amount, we believe, than $1,500. in due time, and that the appropriation of retrace any of them.

The enlargement of an architectural work in these efforts. like the Capitol is a more difficult problem to solve than the creation of a new edifice would present. As Congress has deemed it proper to impose the responsibility of so serious a matter upon the President, he should not be compelled to act hastily, nor be annoyed by the importunities of interested persons. His Administration will be held responsible for the plan, whatever it may be.

THE WHEELWRIGHTS, COACHMAKERS, AND BLACKSMITHS.

We learn from the morning papers that the contemplated procession vesterday was but partially observed, owing to the inclemency of the weather; and that about a dozen of those who united in it were arrested, and bound over or committed to jail, for offering violence to a member of their craft who refused to unite in their demands for the ten-hour system, and also for resisting and assaulting officer Mulloy in his attempts at protecting the person assailed.

If those things are so, it is much to be regretted; for a good cause can be in no way so fatally injured as in the use of injudicious means of defending it. Duty and interest would alike point all who desire the proposed reform to the making atonement for any injuries inflicted or laws offended, and the renewing their attempts, under the guidance of better counsels than those of passion and warfare. The blunder that has been thus made should prove no impediment to permanent success. On the contrary, it should admonish to a more even course of policy in the future-such a course as cannot fail to bring success.

CLOUDY SKIES .- We learn from the register which the sun shone all day from a cloudless sky. Saviour.

AN HOUR AT THE SMITHSONIAN.

There is, perhaps, no place in this city, (unless it be home,) where one can pass away an hour so pleasantly as at the Smithsonian Institution. We walked over yesterday afternoon and found our way into the reading-hall, where we sat for some time. Upon the table we found a large number of home and foreign publications, reviews, magazines, newspapers, essays, &c., with which we were amused, and from which we derived no little information. Among others, we saw some books which had been sent here from England, France, and Germany under the operations of Mr. Vattemare's system of National Interchange. We are glad to see that the exertions of this gentleman are to be crowned with the success the enterprise so well deserves. There are in this country some ten thousand libraries, great and small, which, though they contain many valuable works, are rarely resorted to by scholars who are in search of authentic information. Old books, and manuscripts, and those works of modern publication which, from the costliness of procuring the matter and of printing it, have been issued only in small and limited editions, are chiefly confined to the institutions of the old world, or when sent here are, to all practical purposes, chained, like those ponderous tomes belonging to the ancient monasteries, to the desks and shelves of their owners. But we shall soon see the day when our men of learning will not have to go to the old countries in pursuit of the valuable contents of such works. The awakened liberality of foreign governments and societies will afford us sufficient means and opportunities at home; and we will cheerfully reciprocate the bounty as far as lies within our power.

Not only will this good result be attained, but another will arise, which, though of minor benefit, will be felt throughout this country, at least. The mutual exchange of the periodicals of the day, and with them the exchange of the thoughts and opinions of literary men, will have the tendency to raise America to the rank which her attainments and ambition deserve. Foreigners, when they shall have become satisfied that there is genius on this side of the Atlantic, will be disposed to treat our productions and ourselves with more consideration than in times past. Such personages as Madame Trollope, Capt. Basil Hall, and-we grieve to say it !- Charles Dickens, will prefer the simple truth to the now more marketable product of scandal and calumny. National prejudices are always deep-rooted and difficult of eradication; but when a people are made to understand that their dislikes are built upon sandy foundations, they will abandon them. Our own countrymen are not altogether free from the habit of encouraging false opinions of their neighbors. There is among us a great deal of this disposition to underrate; but we believe there is a still greater willingness to give up erroneous notions. Willing or not, however, both parties must banish them. Do not our Websters, Calhouns, Longfellows, and Bryants, freely barter their ideas and conclusions for those of the Macaulays, Tennysons, Goethes, and Lamartines of Europe?

We may never hear one country acknowledge another as its superior, but we may hear the general recognition of national equality. Intellectual power, with the might of the plough, is soon to sink in its depths the long-maintained supremacy of the sword.

FIRE AT BLADENSBURG.

We regret to learn that the handsome residence of John Bowie, esq., near Bladensburg, was destroyed by fire last night. During the snow-storm yesterday, the chimneys were "burned out," in the usual manner, and no danger was thought of until the alarm was given by persons who in passing saw the smoke ascending from the roof. Mr. Bowie immediately hastened to the attic, but found it in flames, and had to retreat and save all he could below. The ladies of his family took refuge in the house of A correspondent of the Intelligencer of this his neighbor, Mr. Vass. The furniture of the morning asks, "if the President has selected first story was all saved, and a small portion of the plan for the new addition to the Capitol, for that in the second also. The house, which was which an appropriation was made the session of wood, was entirely consumed, and we believe was valued at about $5,000. We have heard no estimate of the value of the furniture de-We have reason to believe the plan for this stroyed. There was a partial insurance—no

THE MALL.

We understand that Mr. A. J. Downing, the ccomplished rural architect, is now in this city, by invitation of the President, through the Commissioner of Public Buildings, and that he is about to commence the execution of his beautiful plan for the embellishment of our noble mall, which has so long appeared as a barren waste in the midst of our picturesque city.

PATENT OFFICE BUILDING .- We stated yesterday that Wm. Birth had taken the place of Wm. Morrow, as superintendent of the stonework. We have since learned from Mr. Birth that the place has been tendered him, but that he has not accepted it. This may be the case is not a weakness of the age for gentlemen to decline such things.

WASHINGTON CITY POLICE AFFAIRS.

The watch-house this morning turned out Luther Stark, a free colored chap, twenty years old, who had been taken up for straying out later than 10 o'clock at night. He was permitted to mosey.

John Brown, a gentleman of one of the first colored families of Virginia, was found lying churches, and several dwellings and stores. drunk in the street last night. 'Squire God- The loss is estimated at fifty thousand dollars; dard this morning sent him down for ninety days; and that is what we call knocking a man clear into the middle of next July.

A LITTLE FIRE. -On L street, between 6th and 7th, this morning, an elderly colored lady was so unfortunate as to turn the bowl of her pipe downward, and the consequence was that she burned an old carpet, and a "week's washing" of some family, and also raised a great smoke and a tolerable alarm. The luxuries of life are expensive.

A PROLIFIC COUNTY. In the county of Pope, Arkansas, containing, according to the census returns, a population of 4,668, white and black, there are among the juveniles twenty-six twins-one unfortunate mother repeating the frolic, and presenting her lord with four at two successive births. But we may find some consolation in all things; and it is well to inform the humane that Pope county is very fertile, and that corn and molasses are exceedingly abundant there.

THE THREE GRACES.—We have received from Mr. J. SHILLINGTON, Odeon Building, the May numbers of Godey, Graham, and Sartain, beautiful as the opening flowers of the season, and as unsubstantial.

We are also indebted to Mr. Wm. ADAM, Pa. venue, for a copy of Graham.

We of course feel under no obligations to publish, or even read, the anonymous commuications we receive.

NEWS BY THIS MORNING'S MAILS.

HARRISBURG, April 14.—Passage of the Susquehanna Railroad Bill. — The Susquehanna Railroad bill, authorizing the connexion between the Cumberland valley and the Central railroad on the west bank of the Susquehanna, has just passed both branches of the Legislature. Saturday night it was defeated in the House by a tie vote, and carried to-day by 48 to 47 votes, after the hardest struggle of the session.

CINCINNATI, April 12 .- Jenny Lind's Route. M'dlle Jenny Lind is announced for three concerts in this city next week. Arrangements have been made for her to sing at Wheeling the succeeding week, when she will proceed to Bal-timore, Philadelphia, and New York. She will not visit Pittsburg this spring.

RELAYING THE TRACK .- We learn from the Philadelphia Ledger that the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad Company is about to relay its track between Wilmington and Baltimore. They have purchased six thousand tons of heavy rail, half of which is from the Montrose iron-works, at Danville, Pa.

The City Council of Charleston have caused to be prepared a massive and beautiful gold medal, which is to be presented to "Clarke Mills as a mark of respect for his Genius for Sculpture exhibited in his bust of the favorite son of South Carolina, John C. Calhoun, and as an incentive to further exertions." The medal is enclosed in an elegant gold case.

Business in California.-A correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, writing from San Francisco, under date of March 4th,

"Business is here growing more and more slack, and the quantity of goods daily arriving and forced at auction is truly immense. On Monday last, at John Middleton's public sale of boots, clothing, &c., the company, which was large, assembled at 10 o'clock in the morning, and did not adjourn till dark. Some five hundred lets of goods were sold, which, on the average, did not realize freight and charges, although the quality and condition of the goods were unexceptionable. I notice to-day in the ship A. M. Lawrence, the agent advertises two thousand two hundred and sixty-seven packages to ten different consignees, to be sold to pay freight and charges; and this is a sample of almost every ship-load that arrives."

RETURN OF MRS. JUDSON.-This estimable lady was to have sailed from Maulmain for Calcutta in January, and thence to the United States by the way of England. To enable her to take this route home, which is the most agreeable one, without additional expense to the Missionary Union, a number of persons at Calcutta spontaneously contributed a sum of money for the purpose. She is expected to arrive in this country in May or June.

NAVAL .- The U. S. ship Marion, Captain Glendy, sailed from Canton for Manilla about the 28th of January.

M. LAMARTINE has presented to the National' Assembly of France a petition from Wm. Tell Poussin, formerly Minister of the Republic in the United States, praying the government to grant a block of granite taken from the quarries f Cherbourg for the monument to General Washington, now in the course of construction in Washington city.

The ship Otilia, which left Liverpool for New Orleans on the 2d of February, with 449 emi-grants, did not arrive at the latter port until the 2d instant. Mutiny among the crew obliged the captain to put into Jamaica, where several of them were tried and sentenced to three months' imprisonment at hard labor. Having been remanned, the Otilia again set sail, but the ship fever soon broke out, and five persons died, who were buried at sea. On her at the Balize she had forty cases of ship fever in other instances, for aught we know; but it on board, besides other diseases; and her decks and hold were so filthy, that the wonder was that all her passengers were not the victims of

The prisoners lately taken by the Turks among the insurgents in Bosnia were marched from Belgrade under escort, bound together by twenties, with a heavy chain, some two inches in diameter, fastened to an iron ring around the neck of each. Those at each end of the chain had big padlocks on their breast, with which the chain was fastened. So heavy was the chain that each prisoner had to hold up his piece in order not to be dragged by the others to the ground.

Governor Helm, of Kentucky, has veoed the bill passed by the legislature, conferring upon the corporate authorities of Bacon College the privilege of raising fifty thousand dollars by a lottery scheme. In his message, the Governor acknowledges that previously as a member of the legislature he had voted for a lottery bill, and as Governor had approved one. He is now, however, convinced that the system is contrary to morality and the public good, and he is not only in favor of withholding such grants for the future, but even of repealing hose now in existence.

MOVE AMONG THE TAILORS.

The Subscriber respectfully tenders his thanks to his customers and the public for their patronage, for many years extended to him on the Avenue, and informs them that he has been compelled, by contemplated improvements at the old stand, to change, for the present, his place of business. He has fitted up a store on Eighth street, third door from the Avenue, where he hopes still to serve the public acceptably, and solicits a continuance of their favors.

An examination of his new Spring Goods is particularly invited, as he has made arrangements for making them up to order, in the most superior style, and at prices to suit the times.
